A Free Lunch Daily

Wonders will never cease; neither ill men with more brass than brains dewill men with more brass than brains desist from thrusting themselves forward, even at the expense of being considered ridiculous, and getting only popular contempt as a reward for their unblushing impudence. Yesterday, one of this class—no less a personage than Mr. D. W. Higgins—addressed a letter to the public, evidently inspired by the local Superintendent of the Telegraph Company, for whom the gentleman in question has undertaken to act as special advocate and glosser. Some people, whenever they open their mouths, put their foot in it. It is so in the case of the great bloviator, Mr. Higgins. The their foot in it. It is so in the case of the great bloviator, Mr. Higgins. The public naturally ask, what has Mr. Higgins to do with our remarks respecting telegrams, on Monday morning? We never alluded to him, nor to the sheet under his partial control, that cuts such alignment that the columnity. But re presume that the only reason for it is hat be felt that be must indulge in a imb-like proceeding, that is, impose on the public, as Mr. Lamb has been the sease of imposing on Mr. DeCosmos, for everal mouths past. We exceedingly regret that we have to notice the Higgin tion effusion; but it is necessary to temine the utterances in our own interance, we well as that of the public. Mr. Higgins cays that Mr. DeCosmos some time ago that the Colis hed advantages from the telegraph not granted to the STANDARD. Now, what we complained of was something Stove Piping, Tin Pails, Slop different. It was this: That Mr. Lamb Buckets, Enamelled Sauce & Stew different. It was this: That Mr. Lamb had agreed to supply the STANDARD with 600 words per day, on the same terms as the Calonist; but it turned out that the latter got its 600 words for $25 per week, whilst the former paid $36 This shows the veracity of Master Lamb. Besides which, we were compelled to take and pay first for 1200 and then for 2000 words every day, contrary to our contract with Mr. Lamb, or get no telegrams. This is what Mr. Higgins called "fixing the STANDARD." We have survived, however, with a vigorous constituvived, however, with a vigorous constitu-Del'osmos made a contract with Mr. Mumford the same as he had made, which, "after several weeks' hesitation and delay in finding the requisite security on the part of Mr. DeCosmos, was executed." Now, the latter statement is one of those for which Mr. Higgins is quite renowned. In-stend of delay in giving security, security was offered within twenty four hours after the terms were settled. But what is inexcusable in the matter is this: Mr. Lamb sgreed to accept such securities as his attorney Mr. A. R. Robertson considered, good and did so in the presence of the latter. Mr. Robertson accepted them and drew the bond accordingly; but Mr. Lamb, on behalf of the Telegraphe demograph select to stand deutle that he ever made such an agreement ! So much for his veracity. Two then were all that Mr. Lamb said the Company would take. The names of two wers also given and accepted within 24 hours after he had refused twelve of our best citizens, and the contract was signed and scaled at once, and the bond banded in the next day So much for Mr. Hig-gins' verneity! Next the redoubtable Mr. Higgins says that our contract was "for six hundred words or therebouts aday, for six days in the week." Now this too is not so, for the words of our contract are: "averaging about 600 words per day." No such words in the contract as "six days in the week."

Of course this little piece of jugglery was done to whitewash Mr. Lamb for not aupplying as with later telegrams for our Monday's issue as previously. Mr. Higgins says that Mr. DeCosmos has refused to take more than 600 words, whilst he has taken 2,000 words a day. But does sayone believe that he pays for them? anyone believe that he pays for them? all through the period betwee the contract was made by as with the company, Mr. Higgins had 600 words for $25 per week, whilst we paid $36 and he had 600 for acthing whilst we paid $36 additional. Who will believe Messrs, Higgins & Lamb after reading these facis, and who will believe that he now pays for 2,000 words, at the rate at which they would be supplied to us if we ordered them? We do not. Moreover, we tried hard to get a covenant put in the contract

These are all facts, remember. There are no

Now then, as to the "wanton attack on the words a day, a public subscription would meet the case better than a petition to the Lagislature. In reply to this, we can only state in Mr. DeCosmos behalf, that he is recommended.

We made no wanton attack. We spoke the truth, and we are prepared to prove it; and defy contradiction. Mr. Higgins, then, talks of an act of Parliament as "undue interference with the rights of the subject." Now, if the Company are netting fairly, why object to a statute that will merely guarantee what he says that they do, or are willing to do? The inference is conclusive. Mr. Higgins fears a law that would lorce all telegraph companies to treat all persons.

Mr. Cornwall presented a petition from merchants, farmers, and teamsters of Yale, praying the Government not to grant any special privilege to Messrs. Beedy & Barnard. Tr. DeCosmos presented a petition, signed by the leading merchants of the city, against a mesophy (published in another column.) The petitions were read and received.

The Attorney General said any hon. gen-

the second reading and committal, on the been taken into consideration a long time ago | ment would be making a mistake. Mr. Hum--it was open to every one to consider the introduction; Messrs. Beedy & Barnard were the only ones, and he was informed that Mr. Barnard, with much energy and enterprise, went to England to see for himself the workno one gave the question any consideration; he gathered from the Act framed, that these gentlemen had made their arrangements. He came to the comclusion that if any other erable. He would set his face against a mopersons would introduce steamers, it is in-that road a it was open to any one else to in-troduce algorithms. Considering the Bill with amendments, it would be to the inspeaker. He endorsed one thing mentioned by the Attorney General—the enterprise, the thanks of the country. He commended with other parties who might introduce other steamers to buy them out—would make it worth their while to keep off; such a thing was nothing new in other countries; be un-derstood it was not new here—he had heard statements somewhat reminded him of the of opposition on the Fraser river, where par-ties thought it to their interest to combine rall didn't apprehend one year would destroy and charge what they liked. The present all these interests, and at the expiration of rates are anything but what they would be, were there competition, or if a B.II were there competition, or if a B.II were framed to limit the rates. He was astonished to see the introducers accept the amendments proposed. There were other reasons why a privitees should be given to Mesers. Reedy & were now lying in Royal Roads and uncomposition. rivilege should be given to Messrs. Beedy & ers were now lying in Royal Roads, and un-Barnard; upon them would the whole risk of the transaction of their introduction lie; other parties, if the steamers were lound unsuccessful, would have time to countermand their orders; Beedy & Barnard would be the first persons who would have to repair and strengthen the bridges and reads, after the grades, &c, if needed, and be thought the houses—the bon, gentleman admits the introduction of way-side houses—the bon. House would agree, it would be unfair to duction on general principles; he didn't see these goutlements have the risk of the undertaking. His attention had been directed to cert-in sand-hills on the road, which

They would have the power to mise freight Honoreys said it was advisable to to 8 cents a lb—it was altogether out of prodefer further consideration of the second portion to the present rates, which now do reading of the Bill, until the petitions be not reach 8 cents, and this year propably printed and laid formally before the House. would not reach 6 cents. He therefore did a monopoly, it would be so. He believed the whole thing was planned for a year; even now, there were two machines in the harbor the whole thing was cut and dry. He challenged that there was any petition signed, challenged that there was any petition signed, having a monopoly in view, except by Messrs.

B. & B.'s employees. He had no objection to the Gariboo petition; it was a different thing to ask for a monopoly. The men in the upper country were known to him, and were not to the hon. Attorney General, and the arguments used by him (Mr. Phillippo) were those used by Mr. Barnard—the premises are false from beginning to end. He mises are false from beginning to end. He mean to say, it was not to those people's interest to grant a monopoly. If such were sampled to the road steamers. In committee, assedments could be introduced.

Mr. Decomes said the Bill before the lines was a special one, and if passed—consequently the House would pass a private Bill. He would not object if the Bill were altered to a general one.

Dr. Helmcken—So far as the Bill is conversed to a general one.

Mr. Humphteys—the hon. gentlemen had ing of the steamers in question, and made his arrangements with the Thomson Co. to introduce them. Until they (Barnard & lesson before he would get through—Beedy) notified the public of their intention, teach him a lesson too. The Bill sinks with absolute insignificance when compared with any other he ever read, and he read considpossible that they would serve in time. The bery no matter where enacted. A To have bill only asked that the patent be given to Hon. Dr Carrall-after what had been said dertaking. His attention had been directed to certain sand-hills on the road, which might have to be overcome, and upon these gentlemen would the responsibility rest; the House would their it unfair that other people should be allowed to reap the benefit of the experiment of Neers. Beedy & Barnard. He (Atterney General) would, therefore, support the second reading; the Government members were free to vote, as the best interests

Mr. DeCosmes also presented a memorial by the agent of the Lane & Kurtz Mining Co., Messrs. Gerow & Johnson. mail contractors and express agents, Messrs. Harper, &c., asking that a general &ct be sest down to the instruction of Read Steamers; that they were prepared to give bonds for the introduction of such steamers by a reasonable time, &c. and Received and read.

-the motion of Mr. Bunster asked for a general Bill; to the original proposition, he had no objection, but one, that was the monopoly c'ause, and he would vote for Beedy & Barpard's Bill, if that were struck out. The evils taking for granted, the steamers are all they are said to be, all would be willing for their introduction; but the difficulty was the point printed and laid formally before the House. The importance of the matter suggested a not too hasty legislation. Every latitude and time should be given to get at the merits of the case. The petition presented from Cariboo did not ask for an exclusive right or monopoly for the introduction of Thomson's Ref. it mer. At the same time, all intelligent persons would encourage their introduction what would be the result of the injury to the present small traders of British Columbia and the reaction to the traders of British Columbia and the reaction to the traders of Vancon verdetion without a monopoly. He asked that Island? It would be giving up the whofe country to those two men. Never, on the face of this earth, was there a monopoly would act to the consideration of the proposition be described.

The Hon. Dr. Helmcken in introducing his action, alluded to the sitting of a Commission Washington, having in view the settlement of matters in dispute between the United States and Great Britain, and which the people of the Colony had reason to be proud of. He gave the history of the San Juan boundary question in general, embracing its different phases from earliest times the Consent question in general, embracing its different phases from earliest times,—the Oregon boundary question, the occupation of the Island by American troops—its joint occupation by British troops, &c., &c. There was a story extant, that a brother of the Earl of Aberdeen, then Prime Minister of England, was sent out to the Columbia river in connection with the boundary. Once, when fishing, the fish did at like the fly, and he wrote back to his brother, the country was not back to his brother, the country was not worth having. It is said that was real reas-po why that boundry was not taken. (Hear.) Dr. Helmcken touched on the question in connection with the Canadian railroad projected; to the importance of the island, i its position as being the key to the Maintana, and its consequent importance to the Dominion, &c., &c. He moved:

"That, Whereas the Island of San June Policions to Canada and bears important relations to Canada and British Columbia; and, whereas a Joint Commission has been appointed by Her Majesty's Government, and by the Government of the United States, to settle all existing International difficulties: ented to His Excellency the Governor, respectfully requesting that His Excellency will be pleased to represent to Her Majesty's Government and also to the Canadian Governmen, the great importance of the Island of San Juan to the Dominion of Canada as well as the undoubted claim of the Crown to the as the undoubted claim of the Crown to the same, and recommending that the Hon. J. W. Trutch may be instructed to appear before the Commission on behalf of British Columbia, for the purpose of supplying information and otherwise promoting the interests of the Colony in connection with this question, and also that relating to the boundaries of the posses-sions of the United States North of British

Mr. Humphreys concurred with the resolution, but objected to saming Mr. Trutch or any one else to explain the matter to the Commission. His suggestion was agreed to, and that portion respecting Mr. Trutch was struck

Mr. DeCosmos suggested that he had give up making long speeches, but was glad that the hon. member for Victoria City had kept alive the good old custom. He thought that it mattered very little what the Legislature did about the San Juan Question. It would be settled quite irrespective of all that we could say. He would, however, suggest that a clause be added to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is made and the settled to the resolution to the effect which is the settled to the resolut fect that it was desirable "to secure to Brit-ish subjects the right of fishing in the waters of the United States on the Pacific Coast."

The enacting clause is as follows:—
"From and after the passing of this Act, all flour and meal manufactured in this Colony, from wheat, beans, peas, oats, barley, and grain of all kinds, grown in the Colony, shall be exempt from liability to any Road or Ferry Tolis in the Colony, payab e to the use of Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, in like manner as if such flour and meal respectively had been specified in 'The Tolls Exemption Also, a message assenting to the Constitu-

The House resolved itself into Committee of Supply on the Supplementary Estimates, Mr. Pemberton in the Chair, when the following items of expenditure, for last year, were passed without much discussion? Revenue Services, Exclusive of Estroduced -a Solicitor in two hours would draw up provisions which would answer every purpose of a general bill.

This Act was read a first time. The House then adjourned till Tuesday next, at 1 p.m., to give the Attorney General time to complete certain bills which the Government intend to send dewn.

EMIGRANTS FROM CANADA .- The monthly report of the Bureau of statistics, now in The Attorney general did not know.

Hon. Dr. Helmckes had listened to a two hours debate—to the injury that would be done—the rebellion and bloodshed, but there was only one result, and that is, that every body is willing and ready to have road steamers.

Tepors of the Bureau of Statistics, now in press, shows the occupations and number of emigrants arrived in the United States from the British North American Provinces in the year ending June 30th, 1870; the total arrivals amounting to $0.411. In the ten years from 1860 to 1869, both inclusive, the number was 118,523.—American Paper. ber was 118,523.—American Paper.

Anti-Monopoly Petition. TO THE HONORABLE THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The Honorable Petition of the undersigned Mer-chants, Traders, and Residents of Bestish Columbia, sheweth,—

That in view of the applications which have already been unde to your honorable House, with reference to the introduction of Traction Bugines and Thomson's Patent Road Steamers into British Columbia, your netitionars (see that petitioners feel that a monopoly in favor of any company or individual, to effect this ob-ject, will act most injuriously on a large class of persons who have considerable capital invested in the carrying trade of British Columbia. At the same time, the introduction of improved means of transport, without exclusive privilege, will be of great and permanent advantage to the Colony.

Your petitioners, therefore, humbly pray your honorable House to pass a general Act, authorizing companies or individuals to in authorizing companies or individuals to in-troduce and use Traction Engines over the public roads of British Columbia, under such restrictions and regulations as to your hon-orable House shall seem most advisable. And your petitioners will ever pray,
